BOARD BOOK ABOUT DIVERSITY FOR THE YOUNGEST READERS

Date of publication: January 24, 2022

2+

With colour illustrations

Everyone's different, and everyone's beautiful!

Look closely: hidden in every picture in this book, there are animals that are different from the others, one way or another: first one elephant, then two monkeys, then three zebras are dancing to their own tune, and there's more to come – because the more diverse the world is, the better. And at the end, all the animals get together for a big party!

A jolly book with lots of animals to discover, promoting strength of character and diversity.

- Awakens the imagination and creativity, promotes diversity and tolerance, and develops social awareness
- It's boring when everyone's the same: hidden in every picture are animals that are different from the rest – first one, then two, then more and more!
- With extra search tasks (a frog and an insect are hidden in each picture), and games to help children learn how to count to 6 – a truly diverse book
- Shows how rich and diverse the world is, and that everyone has the right to be who they want
- An aid to that first conversation with your child on topics such as diversity and inclusiveness

'A girl thing', 'a boy thing'? A picture book about gender stereotypes and open-mindedness

When Paul stumbles across a glittery crown at playschool, his friend Tarek says that sparkly things are just for girls. But what happens when a boy plays with them anyway? Does he turn into a glittering star? Does the world come to an end? Paul and Tarek pluck up their courage and have a go – who cares if the other kids laugh at them! Tilly decides to be brave as well, and stands up for Paul and Tarek. After all, girls are courageous and strong too!

A picture book that encourages all children – boys AND girls – to be who they are, and to question 'typical' gender roles.

- There's no such thing as a 'typical' boy or a 'typical' girl!
- A picture book that encourages kids to stand up for themselves and pursue their true interests and preferences
- An age-appropriate approach to the subject of gender stereotypes and diversity

A picture book about Claude Monet's life and work

Ella and her family have moved from the US to a little village near Paris. In the village lives a painter whom her father admires very much: Claude Monet. Ella often watches the artist, who has a funny long beard and always wears a hat, in his garden at Giverny. One day, Monet notices the girl secretly sketching a portrait of him. He encourages her with her art, and tells her about his own beginnings as a painter: 'I didn't want to make things look beautiful – I wanted to paint things as I saw them. I wanted to paint my impression of them.' A beautiful and insightful picture book about Monet's life and finding the courage to create your own pictures, even when they may not look perfect from the start.

Includes an appendix with facts about Claude Monet and impressionism, and photographs of his most famous works.

Brave Robin has decided to stop working his socks off for the wealthy knight, so he quickly pockets a shiny coin from the treasure vault and takes to his heels. But then poor Robin is captured by a gang of robbers, deep in the forest. When he tells them where he's just come from, they have a brilliant idea: with his help, they're going to break into the knight's treasure vault – and in exchange they'll give Robin back his freedom. But it looks like their leader's plans will be thwarted by Sir Me-Me-Me, and by a certain shiny coin...

Colour illustrations throughout

‘Wha?’ grunts the frog, who hasn’t understood what the hare has just said; the mouse keeps talking over the elephants as they chat among themselves; and over at the tea table the crocodile picks up the biggest slice of cake with its jaws without asking. These and many other wittily illustrated everyday situations show why good manners are important, even for kids – because only if you’re polite and respectful towards others can you expect them to respect you too. Each example is presented in the shape of a funny verse. A hugely entertaining picture book for children aged 3+.

- A picture book with verses on the topic of good manners
- Wittily illustrated rules of good behaviour for little kids, on subjects including table manners, saying hello, tolerance, not swearing, washing your hands, not littering, saying sorry, and much more

Calling all mountaineers: join us on a hike!

Mops and Kat know the only way is up – so they set off on a thrilling mountain hike together with the ibex Urs. On their way to the top, they visit an alpine pasture and discover the wonderful flora and fauna of the peaks: gentians, edelweiss and Alpine roses, golden eagles, marmots and chamois. On the summit, a sea of mountains unfurls at their feet. On their way back, they pass a majestic glacier – and that’s where it happens: Mops is distracted, and falls into a crevasse. When Urs and Kat try to pull him out, Kat, too, slips into the abyss. Not to worry: the friends discover an underground cave filled with glittering rock crystal, and, together with a shaggy snow-animal, have the biggest adventure of their lives so far.

- My Adventure Comic is an innovative book concept that makes reading even more fun
- Fascinating facts about the mountains, and the wild animals and plants that live there
- Bonus material: suggestions for fun hikes and games for little mountaineers
- Will help even the youngest readers discover their love for stories and reading

There's plenty of room for everyone!

While out for a drive in their smart convertible, the deer discover a secret beauty spot. Naturally, they want to have it all to themselves! But then more and more animals gather by the lake to swim, play games and have picnics... there's all sorts going on! The deer aren't happy about it at all. When it suddenly starts raining and the seats in the cool convertible get soaked, the other animals come to their aid with blankets, umbrellas and towels. And now the deer have to admit that it's actually much better when everyone sticks together.

Stories to help your child grow up strong and brave

Ida's parents have given her a very special birthday present: two soft and cuddly golden stars! They're meant to help Ida whenever she needs encouragement or gets upset. They're there for her when her best friend Henry is mean to her, when she loses her mum during a shopping trip, when she argues with her friends and when she spends the night away from home for the first time. But the best thing about these lucky stars is, that Ida only has to think of them to feel better right away – and the same goes for when she shares them with her friends: because together, Ida and the kids from Sparrow's Walk are strong, confident and very brave. Isn't that wonderful?

- Relax, take heart and look after yourself with these 'lucky stars' – a simple mindfulness and relaxation method
- Lovingly told stories that show how lucky stars can help children easily navigate everyday life

With colour illustrations

Every day is an adventure!

It's an ordinary day in the Truthful Wood, and the animals are doing what they always do: gathering food, sweeping their dens and fixing their garden fences.

None of them notices that something unusual is going on: a strange creature has appeared at the edge of the wood, dragging a heavily loaded cart. Only Zara the squirrel sees the street rat – dressed in smart trousers and a scarf that smells of the big city – set up a stage, with a sign reading: "A new adventure every night!" Little does she know that Minna Melone is about to turn the animals' lives upside down with her fantastical stories.

Anything is possible in this beautifully lyrical book about the power of imagination.

- Inspires readers to broaden their horizons and challenge prejudice
- Key message: you can achieve anything – all you have to do is join in and use your imagination
- An ingenious and lyrical story by bestselling author Sven Gerhardt

Lovely, magical stories featuring the animal whisperer Rudolphina

The animals of Hocus-Pocus Forest are all in a tizzy: the so-called littersquirrels are causing trouble again. There's leftover food all over the place, and dishes are blocking the path – despite the fact that witchy Aunt Eucalypta keeps telling the young animals how important it is to keep the forest clean and tidy. But little animal whisperer Rudolphina has a feeling that the rubbish wasn't left lying about intentionally. With the help of her magic wand, the witch girl discovers that nothing is as it seems. Obviously, she and the tiny fox Snufflesnore do all they can to help.

Bertram becomes a celebrity

Bertram the hamster is on top of the world. He's just started teaching the little mouse Edwiga and her siblings to read – because to recognise the dangers that await both big and little rodents in the human world, you have to know how to read. News of Bertram's lessons spreads like wildfire, and before long the waterfront animals start queuing up outside the Muscleteers' HQ in Dyke Street. But when the shady street rat Wendolin shows up, everything starts to go wrong. Bertram's fame goes to his head, and Pomme de Terre, Picandou and Gruyère hardly recognise their old companion. Has the hamster forgotten who his real friends are?

A new adventure in the popular small-format Muscleteer series of short stories for young readers.

- The Muscleteer books are great fun, and a guaranteed bestseller
- With the author's own wonderfully entertaining illustrations

Finally, school's out! Best of all, they're all going on holiday together, including Rosa's friend Irmela. The van's packed, the tent and Unicorn the donkey are in the trailer, and off they head to the campsite right by a picturesque castle. Rosa and Irmela are besotted with the castle, and dream of spending a night in its royal four-poster bed. That's impossible, of course. Anyway, the owners say it'll be too scary for the two little girls: apparently an invisible duke – who walked through walls even when he was still alive – is haunting the castle by moonlight! A ghostly duke in the castle? Rosa's ghost-hunter's instinct is well and truly awakened. She's determined to find out what's going on, with Irmela and Unicorn by her side.

The book to the feature film about the escape of two teenagers from the Nazis

France 1941: "Good or evil" is more than just the name of a game. Twelve-year-old Rolf and his father like so many other German refugees are being hunted by the Nazis. The two of them are stuck in Marseille because they couldn't get an exit permit. Their destination is New York, where Rolf's mother is waiting for them, but their only way to freedom is a steep path over the Pyrenees. Escape helper Manuel, a shepherd boy scarcely older than Rolf, is to lead them over the mountains. Secretly and against his father's orders, Rolf takes his beloved dog Adi with him, and so the four of them set off along a perilous path into an uncertain future.

- An excellently researched children's novel uniting humour and tragedy – sensitively told and gripping

Andreas Langer worked as a copywriter and journalist before setting out to write for young readers. Instead of reporting on council sessions and corporate anniversaries, he now tells stories set in fantasy worlds. He lives in a small town in Swabia (Bavaria) with his wife, his three children, and a cat obsessed with muesli. The School of Shadows is his first children's book.

Adelheid, of All People!

THE FIRST IN A NEW CHILDREN'S SERIES BY BESTSELLING AUTHOR SABINE LUDWIG

Date of publication: March 21, 2022

With 2c illustrations

Best friends and other catastrophes

Adelheid has to repeat the third year at school – and life is tough in other ways too: she keeps having to stand up to her three talented and beautiful sisters, which is both hard work and pointless. And there's her best friend Benny too... but you don't abandon your mates, even if they keep causing mischief. It's not Adelheid's fault that Mrs Melthead gets stuck to her desk, or that the boys' loos are on fire, or that a rare beetle has vanished from the Biology lab. But whenever she tries to save Benny's neck after yet another disaster, she ends up in trouble herself...

A wonderfully thoughtful story about friendship, loyalty and everyday prejudice.

- A typical Sabine Ludwig book, told with a sharp eye and sparkling wit
- The first book in the bestselling author's new trilogy: a quick-witted heroine with a rich imagination, and a big heart
- Two loveable heroes drawn from real life, who show how important it is to look beneath the surface
- Brilliantly illustrated by Barbara Jung

When you set yourself a goal, you can do anything!

Ranji Ram and Toni Finster couldn't be more different. While 13-year-old Ranji, who has just moved to Berlin from Mumbai, dreams of becoming a film star, 12-year-old Toni is using her karate skills to battle the many obstacles in her life. Unfortunately, their goals conflict – and they end up in each other's way. But then they decide to team up, and together make the impossible possible.

- Ranji has his eye on Bollywood, Toni on London: two children get together to make the impossible possible
- A dancing, singing novel – and the message: 'Make your dreams come true!'
- This novel inspired the feature film of the same name (to be released in February 2022)

We're sick of tricks!

Louis and Lena are puzzled: first Mrs Slugster, then the clubhouse, and now the entire village has fallen foul of a master prankster. Someone's stuffed cake into a coat pocket, filled a pair of trousers with itching powder, put mustard on the door handles... The Wild Boars' Scherzo is famous for unfunny hoaxes, but can he really be the brains behind this campaign of terrible tricks? Louis and Lena have their doubts. Thanks to Louis's clever and highly scientific plan, they prove that a band of magical trickster trolls are at work – and Lena is convinced that they're dealing with a formidable enemy.

The third hilarious adventure in Thomas Winkler's popular series, wittily illustrated by Daniel Stieglitz.

- Inimitable, funny and fast-paced
- Packed with light-hearted, comical illustrations
- Superb situation comedy with plenty of slapstick
- A tale of friendship and the importance of sticking together

Where better to gather all your friends than under the apple tree? This friendship-journal which accompanies the bestseller "Shake the Apple Tree" offers enough space for 30 of your friends to fill in. Questions about your favorite food or animals can be answered on the lovingly illustrated double pages and tick-boxes make it easy for children to mark their favorite color and age too. The final section of the book offers a birthday calendar and more pages to design yourself. If the book is well filled with entries, photos and pictures, the children will soon have a treasure trove of memories that they can leaf through again and again.

A wonderful gift for preschool and kindergarten children.

The Checker Tobi books – fun facts for kids

Which pet has the best sense of smell? Is it possible to learn animal language? Why are fish anything but boring? We all love animals, and many of us have pets – or want to have one. But what do we actually know about them?

Checker Tobi asks the questions that kids most want answered. He talks to experts, who tell us which are the most intelligent pets, whether you can stroke a bird spider, and why you can't tame a squirrel. With lots of photos from the TV series, illustrations and terrific interactive elements.

The latest instalment in the children's non-fiction series about and with the popular TV star Checker Tobi.

A beautiful exploration of everyone's favorite fresh food with Olaf Hajek's brilliantly colored and uniquely stylized paintings

As in his previous books, Flower Power and Veggie Power, Hajek's whimsical, imaginative paintings—inspired by a variety of artistic traditions—situate each fruit in a fascinating cultural context. Each 'portrait' features delightful visual clues about how the fruits are grown and consumed. Opposite the illustrations, Annette Roeder's engaging texts offer illuminating and often surprising facts from throughout history and contemporary life. As mouth-watering as a summer peach, and as surprising as a pomegranate's seeds, this book serves up page after page of delicious, nutritious, but most of all fun portions of fruity knowledge from all over the world.

- A feast for the eyes and the palate!
- Lots of interesting facts about fruit and vegetables

Trick of the Eye

HOW ARTISTS FOOL YOUR BRAIN

Date of publication: May 23, 2022

With colour illustrations throughout

English edition available

Colourful, lively, and endlessly entertaining, this book looks at artistic illusion showing that art history is rife with tricksters

If seeing is believing, then artists might be the biggest liars of all. Painters, sculptors, and photographers often try to convince their audiences that the paint is wet; the fruit is real; the window is open; the figure's eyes are following you around the room. This fun and informative book takes young readers on a thematic tour of art as illusion. From the Parthenon through examples from nearly every major movement and culture, vibrant works of art are revealed to contain visual tricks, puns, hidden clues and just plain deceit. Seurat's pointillism, da Vinci's mysterious Mona Lisa, Magritte's playful paintings-within-paintings, and Duane Hanson's eerily realistic statues are all explored in detail to discuss the techniques, styles, use of perspective and composition that implore us to look at them again and again. Designed with the curious eye in mind, this book will introduce young readers to beguiling works of art with fresh insight and a new way of appreciating some of the world's most important works of art.

His mother has died, and his father's been murdered – Hesmat has no choice but to flee Afghanistan. He crosses the Hindu Kush on foot, then journeys on to Moscow and from there into the West. He keeps landing in prison, has his things stolen, and is tortured and abused. He sometimes feels like giving up, but his dream of a better life keeps him going...

Wolfgang Böhmer's tale of a refugee from Afghanistan is based on a true story.

The book includes a map as well as a timeline of the Afghan conflict.

- A boy flees Afghanistan all on his own – grippingly told by the journalist Wolfgang Böhmer
- Based on the author's numerous conversations with Hesmat
- Authentic and deeply moving. Böhmer's reports in the Austrian media helped save the boy from deportation
- A new edition featuring a map and an updated appendix & afterword

A hopeless romantic from a rich family and a tough beautiful actress with a dark secret

Leith, 22, baseball ace, law student and a real gentleman, is trying to mend his broken heart after his long-term girlfriend left him for another man.

Jun, 20, brilliant acting student with a Japanese ex-supermodel mother, constantly plays a role in her real life too, so as never to betray her true feelings. For behind the shiny façade of her well-off family lies a dark secret.

When the two meet at the same East Coast Ivy League college, it is clear that they will NEVER be friends. Let alone anything more. Leith is repulsed by Jun's cool demeanour and Jun really doesn't like guys from sports teams. But fate unexpectedly leads them to the same university ball and sparks suddenly fly between them, igniting unexpected feelings ...

The sensational debut of the exceptional young talent Amelia Cadan.

- Romantic, sexy, captivating – a love story to melt your heart
- For all readers of Mona Kasten, Laura Kneidl and Lena Kiefer

She has promised herself that she'll never work as a gourmet chef again. Can he reignite her passion?

Despite her successful career as a star chef, young Victoria is desperate to get as far away from London as possible – away from her manipulative boyfriend. She flees to the idyllic harbour town of Goldbridge, where her mother once worked in the fine-dining restaurant Prism. Victoria wants to find out why her mum left her for a career in this place, so she takes a job there as a waitress, without telling anyone her true identity. But one day, as she's drowning her sorrows, she reveals too much to a handsome stranger – never suspecting for a moment that Julian is one of the restaurant owner's sons. And then he has the gall to offer Victoria a deal: he will keep her secret – if she teaches him how to cook. Victoria can't quite explain why this cheeky deal sets off sparks in her heart...

The first instalment in the addictive new Hungry Hearts series – a must-read for all YA fans!

"But My Soul Still Bears the Scars"

HOW NIUSIA HOROWITZ SURVIVED THE HOLOCAUST THANKS TO OSKAR SCHINDLER

Date of publication: April 18, 2022

"You can't tell just by looking at me what I suffered as a child, but my soul still bears the scars."

Nisia Horowitz, a Polish Jew, is seven when the Second World War breaks out and abruptly puts an end to her childhood. In occupied Krakow, the girl looks on as the Germans humiliate, arrest and murder people in the streets, day in and day out. Yet this is only the start of her odyssey: from the Krakow Ghetto, she is taken to the concentration camp of Plaszow, and from there to Auschwitz–Birkenau, where she spends three unbearably long weeks. Nisia is saved when her and her family's names end up on Oskar Schindler's list, and when they're employed in his factory their survival is assured. Nisia is a formidable witness, and since acting as advisor on the set of Schindler's List she has tirelessly campaigned to keep the memory of the Holocaust alive, and to ensure that history will never repeat itself.

- Empathetically written by Reiner Engelmann, author of Wir haben das KZ überlebt ('We survived a concentration camp'), Der Buchhalter von Auschwitz ('The accountant of Auschwitz') and Der Fotograf von Auschwitz ('The photographer of Auschwitz')
- With numerous photos and a comprehensive glossary

Dark. Mystical. Mysterious. The bestselling author's terrific sequel to Ravna: Death in the Arctic

The Sami reindeer herders are gathering for their customary annual trek to the summer pastures. For Oslo police academy trainee Ravna Persen, those weeks in the Arctic Circle far from civilisation are mandatory. But there's tension among the clans, and some people aren't too happy that Ravna has joined the police force. One day, Ravna is injured while trying to track down stray reindeer. A girl comes to her aid, but disappears before she has a chance to thank her. The next morning, Ravna tries to find out who she was, and is told that she was reported missing seven years ago. Can it really have been the same girl? Shortly afterwards, a girl's dead body is discovered, and Ravna decides to investigate – but the weather turns before backup can arrive, and the summer pastures are cut off from the outside world.

- Offers a fascinating insight into the world of Norway's Arctic north and fascinating Sami culture
- A true page-turner: an unsolved death, a tough protagonist trying to find her

AUTHOR

Lena Kiefer

© Fotografin Lisa

Even as a child, Lena Kiefer, born in 1984, was a keen reader and loved making up stories. At first, it never occurred to her to turn her hobby into a career. After school, she strayed into the world of paragraphs; she found her way back to literature just in time, and studied German. She soon realised that reading other people's stories wasn't enough – she simply had to start writing her own. Her books regularly race up the bestseller lists, and she writes all the time, even when she should really be doing something else.
